FEDERAL AGENTS VISIT SALOONS HERE

Norwich saloons were visited Thursday by a squad of federal agents under orders from the office of Internal Revenue Collector James J. Walsh of Hartford, and it was reported Thursday evening that half a dozen or more proprietors of Norwich saloons were in a nervous state of mind from what had been found by the agents' search of their places.

If the federal officers did find anything that would be used to bring charges against the proprietors, they kept it strictly to themselves, and it was announced from Collector Walsh's office that no information would be given out to the public or the press until the United States district attorney had acted on the cases.

There were said to be four officers in the party that came here to look for violations of the prohibition law. According to what one dealer said whose place they visited the federal agents did very thorough work in making searches of the places they visited. The first move was to go behind the bar for a look into the ice tank for any bottles that might be cooling there. All storage places in the saloon and in the cellar were looked over and the places were followed up to see what they led to and what their sources of supply were. The agents used a testing instrument to determine the alcohol content of liquors on hand and, where they found reason to do so, took samples.

New London had a visitation from a squad of ten officers Wednesday. From the office of Collector Walsh it was stated that these men had been sent because his office had been receiving about 40 or 50 anonymous letters from New London residents complaining that the liquor law was being steadily violated and requesting action. As a result Collector Walsh issued sealed orders for a group of ten special agents to visit New London, go to the saloons that were said to be selling in defiance of the law, and take samples of the stock on hand.

Several men were taken to the station and held for a few days. The agents were looking for evidence of violations of the prohibition law.

Asthma Is Dangerous

Folly To Disregard Its Warning.

Asthma is not only a disagreeable affliction but a dangerous one. The constant difficulty breathing, the choked air passages, the struggle for air, the loss of rest, combine to force a great strain on the nervous system and heart.

Often too great a strain to stand. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a condition or to continually treat with ordinary narcotic medicines, drugs, inhalers, smokes or douches, which merely give temporary relief from the choking paroxysms and do not relieve or correct the real cause of the trouble. Instead get from Lee & Osgood or any druggist a small bottle of Oxidase (essential oil) tablets and take one or two three times a day. Instant relief is usually felt and in addition the effect of consistent treatment is to gradually bring about a greatly improved health condition as the symptoms of asthma disappear.

Ever, Oxidase is the successful prescription of a Worcester, Mass. physician, and its treatment of asthma, even in the very worst forms, has probably never been excelled.

Lee & Osgood send it and patients find it a safe, pleasant and inexpensive treatment to use.

Case Before Jury.

The jury had the non-support case against Everett Ledyard of Stratford in the criminal superior court at New London Thursday afternoon. The jury was given the case shortly after 3 o'clock.

NICHOLAS TCHAIKOVSKY IS COMING TO NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 18.—The veteran Russian social-revolutionary, Nicholas Tchaikovsky, will arrive in New York from Paris in a week or ten days on the way to Siberia, where he has accepted an important post under the All-Russian government. It was announced today. For more than two years he has been head of the provisional government in Siberia.

Tchaikovsky is about 70 years old and wears a long, patriarchal white beard. He was the founder of the Tchaikovsky circle, organized by himself and other Russian intelligentsia. To teach the people to read and write, circulate good books among them and "give them the ideal of a better social order" were his aims.

Persecuted by the police he finally fled Russia and did not return until 1905 when he became active in the peasant and co-operative movements. During the peace conference he was a member of the Russian group of four, acting as the plenipotentiaries of all the anti-bolshevik governments.

According to the New York committee for the regeneration of Russia, Tchaikovsky will be chairman of the committee which is in charge of the elections to the All-Russian constitutional assembly.

WOMEN OF ILLINOIS TO LEAD CAMPAIGN AGAINST H. C. L.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Women of Illinois will lead the campaign against the high cost of living. A woman is to take charge of the entire state organization being formed to batter down prices. Her powers, it is expected, will be even greater than those of the state fair price commissioner.

Mrs. Maude R. Turley, organizer of the Women's Division, issued her first communication to the women of the state today.

"Stop buying," she said. "Refuse to pay luxury prices and unreasonable costs for the common necessities."

"Buy only what is absolutely necessary now."

"Stop eating dollar a dozen eggs and ninety-cent butter."

"Postpone purchase of the fur coat and expensive suit for the present and wait prices tumble."

"You are ninety per cent. of the purchasing power in Illinois. Use that power this minute and watch the results while you carry out your other plans."

INDUSTRY HAS ASSETS OF MORE THAN $1,000,000,000

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Segregation or disposal of commercial lines and directly allied with the meat and provision business of the five great packing companies, as agreed upon between them and the United States attorney general, will involve reorganization of a huge industry with assets of more than $1,000,000,000.

The agreement was regarded by the packers as marking an epoch in industry and commerce.

The packers say that heretofore they have conducted their business on a
